

MIDDLE AGED LOVE

Take off your glasses, put 'em on the table
You know I'm willin', I know you're able
To do the kind of lovin' that middle aged lovers do
It's not young lust that I've been missin'
It's slow sweet love and experienced kissin'
Sure am glad to be here tonight with you

We've both got history, wrinkles and scars
And a pretty good sense of who we are
Now you're lookin' at me and your face is full of light
Gonna kiss that wrinkle right next to your smile
No need to hurry, we've got awhile
Plenty of time for middle aged love tonight

(instrumental break, with admonition to audience: "This is the audience participation part of this song. Use your imaginations—or your memories!")

In a few more minutes words are gonna fail us
If we did this in public you know they'd jail us
Let's do it together for a decade, or maybe two
I like this mixture of love and laughter
With good conversation before and after
Sure like making middle aged love with you

I'd like to keep committin' middle aged love with you

*Copyright 2006 Margaret J. Nelson
All rights reserved*